ANKER

Multi-coloured, irregularly patterned tiles with loop pile surface in six colour worlds.

A coincidence is defined as something that is unpredictable and somehow arbitrary. Something we can't plan. And something that often surprises us and is, on many occasions, also fascinating.

Exactly like RANDOM, in fact. This is because the tiles, with their various mottled patterns, owe their vibrancy to their dynamic texture, whose irregular and organic appearance constantly gives rise to new impressions. Each tile is unique, and the overall picture can't be planned. As a result, what seems with RANDOM to be a matter of chance almost becomes a work of art that offers endless possibilities and never fails to impress and surprise when captured in a floor design. The tufted loop-pile carpet tiles are available in six varied colour schemes.
